The Conference of the United Brethren Church for 1905 will be held in the Presbyterian church, this City. Hereto before the name of the Conference has been known as the Cumberland, but at the Conference, held last week, the name was changed to Columbia Conference. Bishop Carter will return to this place in the month of January at which time he will take steps to put up a church building. The annual Conference will be held in the month of October.

The Kentucky Anti-Saloon League was represented in Columbia last Monday night by Rev. H. E. Cleaton, who addressed a good audience at the church.

This organization is doing a grand work, the object being to put saloon men and boot leggers out of business.

Mr. Cleaton is a strong, forcible speaker and has his whole soul in the work. All he said here was endorsed by the many who heard him.

A report is in circulation here that Dowell, of Metcalfe county, cut his wife's throat last Thursday night. We have endeavored to learn the particulars but have failed up to this writing. This much we have heard: Dowell went home intoxicated and a struggle ensued between him and his wife, and finally Mrs. Dowell left her home for that of her neighbor. She was overtaken by her husband and slashed across the throat with a knife. It is said that Dowell is in hiding and that officers are on the watch.

Bishop T. C. Carter, of Chattanooga, Tenn., preached an able sermon at the Methodist church last Wednesday night. Friday night following, an interesting address on Sunday School work was delivered at the same church by Col. Robert Cowden, of Dayton, Ohio. These gentlemen belong to the United Brethren Church and are strong advocates.

It is thought that Columbia will be selected for holding their annual Conference for 1906, as many of our citizens favor it. The Conference for this year was held in the South Western portion of the county, and closed last Sunday.

Bishop Carter also wants to establish a church and erect a building in Columbia.

Rollin Browning and H. T. Baker will appear before the Federal grand jury, Louisville, this week. The Government is working on the suspicious doings of Mike Grant, who carried the mail, some time ago, from this place to Creelboro. One morning he was given a heavy sack of papers and documents, and he accepted it very reluctantly, saying it was too heavy. A few days thereafter the mail was found emptied on the ground, near Columbia.

E. B. Long, Deputy United States Marshal, landed Hobert York, Hiriam Marcus and Luke Wright in jail here last Saturday night. The men are charged with passing counterfeit money, and were held by the Commissioner at Albany in the sum of $2,000 each. All three of the men live in Clinton county, as we understand, and have been shoving bogus money for some time. They were conveyed from here to Louisville.

The people of Adair, Russell,

One of the pleasant events of last week in a social way was an affair tended R. R. Sheffield at the home of Mrs. Judge Stone.

About twenty-five of the friends of Mr. Sheffield were present.

Features of the occasion were singing by Miss Deph, of Glasgow, and piano selections by Miss Baugh, after which refreshments were served and altogether a very enjoyable evening was spent.

Mr. Sheffield left for Philadelphia,

where he will enter the Law

Department of the University of Pennsylvania. He has been associated in the oil business in this field for the last two years and while here has made a host of friends who regard his departure.—Monticello Outlook.

Last Saturday Mr. S. D. Crenshaw,

our Veterinary Surgeon, cut a tumor off weighing 14 pounds, out of a mule's side. At this time the animal is healthy and recovering rapidly. Mr. Crenshaw knows his business, and is prepared to successfully attend to the ailments of stock where veterinary work is necessary.

The crowded condition of his stable and the many animals treated within the last 12 months is sufficient evidence that the people of this part of the State appreciate his valuable services and it further shows that a human feeling for stock is rapidly extending.

If a person gets sick a doctor is called,

if a leg or arm is dislocated it is immediately attended, so likewise a good horse or a faithful mule should have treatment to relieve trouble.

WELFARE OF STATE

Depends on Adoption of Constitutional Amendment.

A CYNTHIANA EDITOR'S OPINION

Will in No Way Affect Taxes of People in the Country, Except the More Cities and Towns Build Up and Prosper, the Lower Taxes on the Whole People Will Become.

(Editorial from Cynthia Democrat, Oct. 3, 1905.)

"And the General Assembly, by general law only, authorize cities or towns of any class to provide for taxation for municipal purposes, on personal property, tangible and intangible, based on income, licenses, or franchises, in lieu of an ad valorem tax thereon; provided, cities of the first class shall not be authorized to omit the imposition of an ad valorem tax on such property of any steam railroad, street railway, ferry, bridge, power, heating, telephone, telegraph, electric light, or electric power company."

There is the constitutional amendment upon which the voters are asked to pass judgment at the November election, upon the adoption of which the welfare, the advancement and the continued prosperity of Kentucky are believed to depend.

The change is easily understood. Instead of raising revenue to pay the expenses of city and town government.

The same taxes, the police, firemen, the maintenance of the streets, public improvements, etc., by assessing personal property as under the present laws, the legislature can tax all citizens, rich and poor, to adopt a license system. All property, real and personal, in cities and towns will continue to pay state and county taxes as usual. No change whatever will be made in this respect, so that people who live in cities will not vote for the amendment under the full assurance that it will in no way affect their taxes; except, the more the cities and towns build up and prosper, the lower the taxes on the whole people will become.

It is naturally asking a small favor that voters cast their ballots for this amendment at the November election.

There is little doubt of its passage if the people do not forget or neglect to vote on the question. There is no point in it.

AMENDMENT EXPLAINED.

P. N. Clarke Says Great Advantages Are to be Derived From Its Adoption.

At a meeting of the Louisville Credit Men's Association a few nights ago Mr. Morton N. Clarke, Secretary of the State Creditors, who is managing the campaign for the constitutional amendment, explained the advantages to be derived from the adoption of the amendment. He said:

"For years, under our former constitution, all cities and town had the privilege of home rule and the right to tax themselves for municipal purposes. This was a great advantage, but it was argued by some, however, that this was a power no town or city should have, and the wise makers of our new constitution said that it would never do—that all property should be taxed alike. So the revenue law was passed."

"But the result has proved the fallacy of the idea, and the effect has been exactly contrary to the design.

"Under our present law the grossest inequalities in assessments prevail and there is not a single advantage to the assessor. It is not strange that there should be great irregularities. The rich man easily escapes his fair share of taxation, as he puts up his stones of wealth, while the poor man, with his all invested in a modest home, has to pay more than his share, because all he has is in sight and cannot be hidden from the assessor."

"The proposed amendment will probably add to a great extent to the simplicity of the law, as it will allow the legislature to permit all cities and towns to raise revenue for local purposes by licenses, franchises, etc., on personal property, instead of the present ad valorem system."

"Under the proposed amendment, under the new law our merchants, manufacturers and financial institutions will pay licenses and avoid the necessity of fictitious returns to the assessor. All personal property subject to taxation will pay its fair share of taxes, and by removing the burden it will sit lightly on all."

"Under the new law we can invite capital and industry with assurances of welcome and our state will flourish as a green bay tree."

The amendment is a step forward and will place us in the line of progressive states.

"We have had a dozen years of the ad valorem system of taxes, and they have been less years to the industrial development of the country. Capital has abominated our shores. The mineral and timber lands lie waste. Our interest rates are high and our people lack the spirit of enterprise."

"Let us have the amendment and we will have a different state on affairs, and Kentucky, with all her wealth of natural resources—her great rivers and network of railways—will blossom forth as the rose, and wealth will flow into our coffers, while health and happiness will be our inheritance."

Cheated Death.

Kidney trouble often ends fatally, but by choosing the right medicine, E. H. Wolfe's of Bear Grove, Iowa, cheated death. He says: "Two years ago I had Kidney Trouble" which caused great pain, suffering and debility, but Electric Billiard, which effected a complete cure. "I have also found them of great benefit in general debility and nerve trouble, and keep them constantly on hand, since I find they have no equal." T. E. Paul, druggist, guarantees them at 50¢.

Life is Embittered.

Life is too often embittered by the growing pains and suffering caused by disease in one or another of its many forms. No other disease covers such a wide range of symptoms, or causes such varied suffering to its victims. Stomach ache, headache, dizziness, nausea, biliousness, constipation, fever, etc., all are due to this one dreadful disease. No wonder that thousands are so enthusiastic over the cure of this disease, by Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin. It is a most potent, marvelous and universal cure. Try it. Sold by J. N. Page, of Columbiana, and R. B. Wilson, Cave Valley, at 50¢ and $1.00. Money back if it fails.

The change is easily understood. Instead of raising revenue to pay the expenses of city and town government.

The same taxes, the police, firemen, the maintenance of the streets, public improvements, etc., by assessing personal property as under the present laws, the legislature can tax all citizens, rich and poor, to adopt a license system. All property, real and personal, in cities and towns will continue to pay state and county taxes as usual. No change whatever will be made in this respect, so that people who live in cities will not vote for the amendment under the full assurance that it will in no way affect their taxes; except, the more the cities and towns build up and prosper, the lower the taxes on the whole people will become.

It is naturally asking a small favor that voters cast their ballots for this amendment at the November election.

There is little doubt of its passage if the people do not forget or neglect to vote on the question. There is no point in it.

A little flax seed meal in the food will help the old fowls to pass through moulting readily.

Air slacked lime dusted every wher is cheap and will aid materially in destroying lice, gapes and roup.

One important item in fattening fowls economically is to supply the food in a way that is easily digested.

The flesh of the guinea is dark but contains a delicacy of flavor that approaches that of wild game.

The laying of unusually large eggs is an indication that the hens are too fat.

The roosts should be low especially for large, heavy fowls, and should all be of the same height.

When the hens stop laying they may often be started again by a change of food.

Last Hope Vanished.

When leading physicians said that W. M. Smithart, of Pekin, Ill., had incurable consumption, his last hope vanished; but Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, kept him out of his grave. He says: "This great specific completely cured me and saved my life. Since then I have helped it for over three years, and consider at a marvelous rate, curing Coughs, Sore Throats or Colds; sure preventive of Pneumonia. Guaranteed, 50¢ and $1.00 bottles at T. E. Paul's drug store. Trial bottle free.

A Dardanel Ride.

Often ends in a sad accident. To heal accidental injuries, use Buchen's Arnica salve. "A deep wound in my foot, from an accident," writes Theodore Schuele of Columbus, Ohio, "caused me great pain. Physicians were helpless, but Buchen's Arnica Salve quickly healed it." Soothes and heals burns like magic. 25¢ at T. E. Paul's, drug store.

DESIRE STATEHOOD.

AGITATION IN INDIAN AND OKLAHOMA TERRITORIES

Governors of Choctaw and Chickasaw Nations Resist Interior Department—The Tribes Involved.

Visits, I. O.—The commercial interests in the Indian territory are preparing to take up the fight in the coming session of congress to make one state out of Indian and Oklahoma territories. It is contended that Indian territory should be admitted as a state and Oklahoma as a separate state.

On March 4, 1906, the tribal governments will go out of existence and the tribal officers will, under the present law, pass into history as the last efforts of the five tribes.

It is probable that either this day or even a single tribal officer will be permitted to exercise all of the prerogatives of his office.

The chief of the Cherokee has been elected and the time that will be occupied in August, 1906, for the election of four years' some provision would be made for his continuance in office after the tribal governments became abolished by law, but the recent ruling of the interior department to the effect that none of the tribal funds should be disbursed until the Cherokee nation is admitted to the Union.

The monthly reports of the heads of departments in the office of Tamm Bixby, commissioner to the five civilized tribes, since he has succeeded David Clegg indicate that the work of administration is progressing in the Cherokee nation and in the Seminole country is practically completed and it is believed that the work in the Cherokee nation will be practically completed by the first of next year.

It is also believed that the Choctaw and Chickasaw land offices will soon follow the Cherokee office in completing the work of allotment.

Dairy Notes.

When possible test the cow's milk before buying her.

Never buy a cow whose milk tests below 3 per cent.

If you wet your hands before milking you flavor the milk.

Rinse all milk vessels with cold water before sealing them.

A good brush is necessary for thorough cleansing of strains.

A fresh cow's milk is not as rich as one long in milk.

A good point in a dairy cow is to have the milking habit well established.

Good cream with a large per cent. butter fat will keep sweet the longest.

Every unkind treatment of the cow poisons the milk—even talking unkindly to her.

The sooner dairy tools are washed after using, the more easily they will be cleaned.

Milk separates best soon after being drawn from the cow, before it has time to cool.

When butter is worked too dry the grains of salt left in it are not dissolved, but remain in a gritty condition.

The time to skim is when the milk has soured just enough to be a little thick at the bottom of the cans, and to thicken the cream.

A cow is largely influenced by training and habit and any change in custom of feeding or milking will affect the milk flow.

If all the milk has not been washed out of the butter, it is certain that an attempt to work it out will result in breaking the grain of the butter.

The producer of dairy products should aim to please his consumers by giving them pure goods; for the better it is the more will be consumed.

Irritability is a quality that is often produced by improper handling at time of first milking. It is easy to produce a "kicker" by the first milker being a man who can not hold his temper under trying circumstances.

A Dozen Don'ts

Don't knock.

Don't get gay.

Don't depend too much on friends.

Don't forget that the best kind of advice is example.

Don't forget that your wife earns half the money—or more.

Don't forget that time wasted to-day is a draft on to-morrow.

Don't work so hard to find a way to live without work.

Don't forget that there would be no tongue of gossip if there were not two ears to listen.

Don't keep all your good temper for use during business hours—take some home with you.

Don't think that a brown stone front will keep the butcher boy from seeing the garbage barrel in the rear.

When Ingersoll was Silenced

Shortly after Ingersoll, the noted infidel, was defeated in his race for governorship of Illinois, he was one day broadly proclaiming his infidelity on board a railway train between Chicago and Peoria. After being for some time offensively voluble, he turned to a gentleman near him and defiantly demanded: "Tell me of one great result that Christianity has ever accomplished."

The gentleman not wishing to open argument with the boaster hesitated to answer. The train had stopped and all was silent in the car.

Just then an old lady of eighty years who sat just behind the infidel, touched his arm with tremble.

ling hand, and said, "Sir, I do not who you are, but I think I can tell you of one great and glorious thing which Christianity has done."

"What is it madam?" said Ingersoll.

"It has kept Robt. G. Ingersoll from being Governor of the great State of Illinois." If a stroke of lightning had flashed through the car the effect could not have been more marked.

Ingersoll turned literally pale with rage and remained silent.

Hog Philosophy.

A symmetrically developed hog is the profitable porker.

A runty pig may be properly fed about one that eats its head off about three or four times a year.

The hog pen is the logical banking institution on the farm, and the farmer can draw on his account any day in the year.

The State fairs are the best educators we have for the rank and file of hog growers. They set higher ideals for men to work.

The high grade hogs now found on the average farm trace through the best and purest ancestry known to the hog breeding world.

Don't worry about feeding the sow till the litter is a day or two old, at least, and then go slow. Feed something light and cooling.

There is a better margin for profit in a well-fed litter of pigs than may be found in any other like investment of money on the farm—Ex.

There has been the natural controversy started pending Miss Alice Roosevelt's return to the United States as to whether or not she has done right in accepting many handsome and costly gifts that have been pressed on her by the sovereigns she has visited.

It is said in some quarters that she is bringing back to the United States gifts aggregating to value $100,000. Now it is seldom decent to drag the families of public men, especially the feminine members of the families, into a newspaper discussion. But there has been much controversy on this subject and it seems only fair to point out that Miss Roosevelt would have put in a very embarrassing position if she had declined the gifts tendered her. Whether the value is $100,000 or 100,000 cents is beside the mark.

She was visiting countries where the bestowal of gifts is a mark of courtesy and good will. If it was pearls in Jolo, jade in China or lacquer work in Japan she should have been considered in those countries very churlish if she declined. She is the only daughter of the White House who has ever had the opportunity to be so honored abroad.

EVENTS OF THE PAST.

EDITORIAL NEWS:

If you will give me space in your paper I will write up some of the improvements that have been made in Adair county in the last fifty years. Like first creation, a new world has been ushered from the dark chaos of heathenism and transformed into a populous city or a fruitful field as but in a short period of a day. Our magic wand of science is upward and onward and ever marching to glory.

In the first place, I will take up the improvements in the postal facilities in Adair county: Fifty years ago there was not a post office between Columbia and Campbellsville until I had the office at Cane Valley established.

Now there are five immediately on the pike between the two towns, and if I mistake not there was not more than six or seven in the County. We had to pay five cents in coin to transmit a letter anywhere in the state. Now we have post offices in every neighborhood in the County, and the telephone carrying messages as it were with lightning speed—without improvement.

In the second place, I will tell something about the improvements in the way the farmers had to cut and separate their wheat from the straw and chaff:

Sixty years ago they had to cut their wheat with reap hooks. My grandfather had six reap hooks and as many negro men. When the wheat was ripe those negro men would go in the wheat fields with their reap hooks and gather a handful with one hand and with the other hand, cut the bunch and lay it down and repeat it till they got enough for a bundle. They would cut large fields that way and when it came to separate the grains from the heads they would clean off a level place on the ground and tramp it hard with horses and then lay the wheat in a circle with the butts down; then three or four boys, riding one horse and leading one, and in this way they would tramp out hundreds of bushels, but as time elapsed my father built a large barn with a tight floor and got his wheat out in the barn, but erelong the horse tramping was suppressed by the ground-hog thrasher propelled by horses. In a few years the ground-hog thrasher was left and the separator took its place, still propelled by horse power. Now we have the traction engines going from field to field threshing thousands of bushels in a very short time.

We now see our country great in arts and in arms. Our golden harvest waving over fields of immeasurable extent. Our Commerce penetrating the most distant seas and our railroads carrying our products to all the markets in the world.

Now we have but one voting place in the County, that was Columbia; we had three days election, the first Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday in August. On those days there would be more white men, negro men and boys than I ever saw in Columbia at any other time.

P. H. BRIDGWATER.

What Paul Jones Did.

Paul Jones assisted in the organization of the first squadron of the Continental Congress.

He refused a commission as Captain, and first sailed as Lieutenant in that squadron.

He hoisted the first flag of Stars and Stripes over a war vessel of the Continental Congress.

His signal courage and seamanship impelled Washington with his own hands to commission him a Captain on the Providence.

He set before Congress the high standard of naval service which ever since has been a source of pride and honor to our nation.

He captured and destroyed the merchantmen of Great Britain, thus giving their government some lessons in their own style of plunder not devastation.

He created widespread consternation off the coast of England.

He captured the British man-of-war Drake.

He secured the first salute to the flag of the United States.

He won the marvelous victory over the Serapis.

He compelled the British Government to exchange prisoners.

He treated his prisoners with courtesy and consideration previously unknown.

He frequently paid his sailors from his own money.

He purchased from his men silver plate they had captured in Scotland from Lord Selkirk and returned to him receiving letters commanding his generous action.

He created a feeling of confidence and hope in the cause of the Americans in Europe when that cause seemed almost hopeless in this country.

He was created a chivalier by France.

He was appointed Admiral by the Empress of Russia.

He was commissioned by Washington and Jefferson to command the United States naval forces in European waters to exterminate the Barbary pirates, but died before this honor reached him.

He was chivalrous as he was brave.

He was the very soul of honor.

He glorified our Nation.

But there is no monument in this country to prove the Nation's gratitude.

Syrup Peppermint is a specific for indigestion, constipation, headache and biliousness. Try it. Sold by J. N. Page, of Columbia, and R. B. Wilson, of Cane Valley, at 50c and $1.00. The announcement made, in the Louisville Post of October 3rd, that arrangements had been made to move 200 negroes from New Albany register in Louisville by the managers of the Democratic campaign is one of the most absurd charges, in our mind, that could be made. Everybody knows that the negro is not democratic; everybody is familiar with the fact that he is republican and that such a scheme would be foolish as well as dangerous to democratic interests. The Post ought to seek and publish more plausible theories if it hopes to advance its political interests. The Louisville campaign seems to be as dirty as it is desperate and we care but little about it, but the fact that the would-be purifiers are going to the depth of impure methods to overturn and outdo the corruption of their political adversaries does not indicate purity to be the large plum in the pudding. If corrupt methods are overturn by corrupt methods what good may be expected? If the "gang" is to be fought by their equals what change can be made? In the beginning we had confidence in the movement to reform Louisville government, but that movement has lost its weight in surrendering its leadership to men and methods the equal, if not the superior of any gang Louisville ever had. A movement to correct any evil ought not to surrender its identity and purity of purpose by accepting aid and leadership from questionable sources. Like begets like. The only thing, or at least, the greatest point with outside Kentuckians in the Louisville campaign is not who wins or loses, but the wholesale advertising of the bad given to the world against our State. If the Post would devote a part of its time and talents to the bright side, to advertising every condition, in every American state. Truly our own beloved Kentucky is not an exception. We are movers from the first waters; goers who out go all others in many ways. It is here the boy wants to be a man and the man would like to be a boy. It is here the young lady would like to be a wife and the wife, many, no doubt, would like to be a little girl. The old batch sighs for days long past while the old maid, well, she teaches school and looks on the little curly heads with envy. The man who is forced to work wants to be a gentleman of leisure and the man of wealth covets the robust constitution of the laborer.

Some people seem at a loss to understand why so many farmers want to sell, why so many want to go West and why so many others are willing to part from pleasant surroundings. The shifting of humanity is a question of deep interest to a student of man and his environments, and so far as we have observed this restlessness and desire for a change is almost as broad as our land, as old as the country and as constant as the hours. America was peopled with shifters. The families who were not game enough to cross the seas never helped to people this country. The ones who were too timid to face the dangers of pioneer life never left home and a large percent of their descendants are around the hearthstones of buried centuries. Every part of American life, every avenue of business is on the moving, shifting, going order. A man who owns a farm wants to go to town; the man in town longs for the blessings and comforts that crowd the farmer. The doctor would like to be a lawyer and the lawyer, too, like all others, would like to be a doctor or something beside his own profession. Thus it is with every profession, with every condition, in every American state. Truly our own beloved Kentucky is not an exception. We are movers from the first waters; goers who out go all others in many ways. It is here the boy wants to be a man and the man would like to be a boy. It is here the young lady would like to be a wife and the wife, many, no doubt, would like to be a little girl. The old batch sighs for days long past while the old maid, well, she teaches school and looks on the little curly heads with envy. The man who is forced to work wants to be a gentleman of leisure and the man of wealth covets the robust constitution of the laborer.

Being asked about the present prospects of the railway, Mr. Azbill said: "For the past four months there has been no change whatever in the outlook. Then we were told by expert Mr. Green, that the proposition is believed by him to be a good one, and we were advised to survey and have estimates made. Last Friday we completed the surveys, and now the estimates are being made. So far as we have progressed we have fully met Mr. Green's expectations. What the footings will show when the estimates are completed I do not know. If I were not still hopeful, I would throw up the sponge.

One thing depends upon our citizens—we must secure the entire right-of-way. I am now giving my attention to this matter with encouragement so far as I have gone."

Dr. Bruner represented the society here, making a touching talk.

Hon. J. F. Montgomery, who was appointed by Governor Beckham, special Judge of the Russell Circuit Court to try the case of W. D. Stephens against J. U. Wethington & Co., held a special term of said court last Thursday and Friday and disposed of the preliminary in the case, and on motion of the plaintiff continued the case until the regular October term of said court, at which time he will again appear and dispose of the case. The Russell Circuit Court selected Felix Simmons as state treasurer keeper for the next two years and agreed to pay him 75 cents per week for each pauper he keeps and supports.

GOOD WORK DONE.

And Our Road Supervisor, Jo N. Conover, Still pushing.

The Settlement made by Mr. Jo N. Conover, Road Supervisor for Adair county, with the Fiscal court last week, leaves the fact that a great deal has been done for the roads this year than any year in the history of such work in this county. At the Fiscal term of April, 1905 the court compelled him to take the delinquent tax lists of 1902, 1903 and 1904, as returned by the Sheriff, and collect same and apply to the roads. Mr. Conover has worked diligently at this and in his settlement last week showed up 400 men collected from, paid in work and cash amounting to $860, all of which has been applied to the roads. One hundred and fifty-five dollars of the above amount was paid in cash, while beats all records of such collections in this county for any year since 1870, the date of incorporation. The roads have been largely rebuilt and good grades made in many places—roads that will show up good for a number of years. Mr. Conover has been looking after the ditches on the bad hills, and in this he is correct. It is the bad hills that take so much time from the road hands and it is these places that usually go unfixed because the average set of hands are not prepared to do it in a lasting way.

Mr. Conover will soon start work on the creek hill on the Stanford road, and when do that, will reconstruct the hill just outside the corporate limits on Greensburg highway. The work is in progress, and it does us good to command it and the man who is at its head.

Death of a Good Citizen.

Last Friday night Mr. J. J. Epperson of his home was near Montpelier, this country, died suddenly, his wife being the only person in the house when the end came.

The deceased was eighty-two years old, and was one of the best citizens in Adair county. He was a man of intelligence and was ever ready to express himself upon public questions, and was a man whose advice was sought by friends and neighbors. He was a kind hearted man and will be greatly missed, especially by the poorer class of people, whom he so often and readily assisted.

Mr. Epperson reared several sons, all of whom are excellent men.

The funeral services were largely attended, every body being in sympathy with the aged companion and surviving children. A good name is a priceless heritage, and this "Uncle" Jeff Epperson left. Peace to his memory.

RAY-KASEY.

Last Wednesday night, at the Christian church in Burkesville, Rev. A. R. Kasey, who is to be the pastor of the Methodist church, this place, for at least the coming year, and Miss Lavinia Ray were happily married by Rev. S. J. Thomas, of Louisville. The church was handsomely decorated and many friends witnessed the solemn and impressive ceremony. Thursday morning Mr. and Mrs. Kasey left for Louisville and from that point they went to Owensboro, to spend a few days with the groom's mother. Rev. Kasey is said to be a very excellent preacher and it is gratifying to announce that our people will have the pleasure of hearing him during the coming year. The bride is pictured as a handsome and noble Christian woman.

JOHN L. WHEAT, Secretary and Treasurer,
421 West Main Street,
LOUISVILLE, - KENTUCKY.Feeding Cattle in the Fall.

The problem which the cattle feeders have to confront is that of getting in gains. At times the market is bad but we have to work against this by producing cattle at the cheapest cost and this is the main point of our study. The experiment stations have furnished us many tables from which we can learn, and if we are not prepared to feed exactly after the manner of the best in the table, we can at least modify it and feed as near like it as possible. We can figure to use what feed we have on hand, and then we can make a table of our own.

Of course, we must study when the market will be best, but the cost of production is more important. I will give the way I like to feed, which I know will also prove the best for many farmers throughout the country, says a writer in Farm and Fireside. I like to begin just as soon as I can get roasting ears, and cut and feed the whole plant, keeping the cattle on good pasture as long as I have it. The experiment stations have also found out that the best gains can be made with cattle while on grass.

I feed this green corn as long as they will readily eat the leaves. You can get the most out of the corn plant by feeding it at this time. Eating this corn in connection with the green stalk and good grass, cattle make good gains at small expense.

I keep them on grass as long as there is grass, and when they do not eat corn blades I pick the ears and continue feeding to the end. When the grass gives out I give clover hay in connection with the corn, and that is about the best the practical farmer can do for the winter. I like to make a short feed and get quick returns for the cattle and the corn crop. In this way you will generally get the best market for the corn crop. Sometimes I do not feed later than Thanksgiving, but at times I feed later when the market suits.

There is another point that must be remembered in feeding cattle, and that is that the stock should have good, pure water. This is often neglected, and the actual loss from it is greater than is supposed by many. I know of one load of cattle which was given impure water, and I believe that the owner lost more than enough to pay for a good well. Feeding cattle on grain, and then requiring them to drink muddy water, is wasteful. Feeding cattle should have good water, and plenty of it, and salt should be before them all the time.

Caldwell, the sage of Monticello, first prescribed his great remedy for indigestion, constipation and biliousness, now known as Dr. Caldwell's (laxative) Syrup Pepsin, its success was so great that it made an instant hit. Love's Sacrifice.

"She was good, she was kind, she was true." So they said of her as she lay calm and smiling in death with a blood-clot upon her gentle bosom. The hand which never wreaked cruelty upon another had unfalteringly sped the fatal bullet through the heart which cherished only love. It had been a long struggle—half a life time of toil and hope and fear and then despondency and the quick end. So the brief story of untold misery and the long years of heart breaking. But back of that covers a weak and brutal sort—a man who had her heart's treasure more than of Solomon's mines, and yet not man enough to care for the prize. Neglect, abuse, lack of love, shame had slowly done their work. The sweet face could scarce hide its care lines by the brightest smiles; the poor heart could barely stifle the sob with a cherry good-day. A shot and a pang would end all. Alas, yes! But who fired the shot? Aye truly: who shall answer in that great day for an hundred deaths in one? Let the red demon and its towering victim answer, two or three. It shall know another curse heaped upon it as it goes its slimy way and it shall cover until the grave shall give him welcome shelter. The sleep, the yearning at the end and the weary heart at rest; he lives with the tortures of hell about and beyond him, and—but one hope—Harrodsburg Democrat.

POOR WOMAN WINNER

HOLES LOTTERY TICKET WHICH DRAWS $200,000.

Widow Who Has Worked Hard All Her Life Will Now Assume the Role of Benefactor to Others.

Paris.—The grand lottery got up for the benefit of the Press Association of France has lately been responsible for great excitement throughout France. Prizes amounting to $3,000,000 francs were divided between 50,000 fortunate holders.

The ceremony of deciding the winners took place at the end of the Credit institution, one of the best known financial institutions of the country, under the patronage of a number of financial and political personages.

All the numbers were placed in big wheels, turned by two children from the founding asylums. Every precaution was taken to insure complete fairness.

After turning the wheels five minutes the children thrust their hands through an aperture and pulled out one number, the first wheel containing the numbers of the tickets, the second wheel the number of the series.

It was announced amid a momentary, awed silence, that No. 2,374, series 77, was the winner of the grand prize, $200,000.

During the afternoon wild reports spread, naming various prominent persons, most of them rich, as the great prize winner. But evening discovered the true winner, Mrs. Hofer, a humble cantinier in the dragon restaurant.

When Mrs. Hofer heard the news offered champagne punch to her entire regiment, but did not seem greatly excited, remarking that she confidently expected to win. A press representative telephoned her, and immediately she replied:

"I am a widow with no children, but perhaps for that reason I had all the better luck. I have saved the money I have to have. I am superstitious, but this time superstition worked well, for most of the numbers sold in this part of the country included the number 13, and were put out the first time on Friday. At the risk of not getting any at all, I waited till Monday, then I bought three, none containing the fatal number."

"I am only 40 years old, so I expect now to have a good time, after working since I was 14."

"I shall settle near Paris and adopt two orphan children I know and give them a good education. My husband has been dead only a year. I never want to marry again, though I still will have many offers now that I am rich."

REMARKABLE NEVADA FISH.

Carcos River Product Recently Caught Possessed of Nine Legs.

Reno, Nev.—State Comptroller Sam Davis, Warden John Sodlin, Attorney General James Sweeney and Louis Bevier, all of Carson, lately landed one of the queerest freaks in the fish line ever seen. The fish was not a salmon or trout, nor closely resembled either, but was a blind fish.

It was caught in the Carson river, close to the Holstein ranch, by Mr. Davis. It measures about 18 inches in length and has nine legs, each about an inch long, and scales of the fish, but the nine legs are covered with fine down hair.

No one has yet been found who can in any manner classify the strange freak.

Mr. Davis and his companions were fishing with the regular rods when the animal fish sprang from the water and hooked on Mr. Davis' line. For ten minutes a battle royal took place, the fish being finally landed on the bank nearly exhausted.

As he was about to pick up the strange creature, however, it began to swim away. It was not until then that the party noticed that the fish had legs. They took back were the men that the strange creature came near escaping in a mere affair of chance. Unfortunately, both for science as well as for the prosperity of the party, the animal fish was killed by the excited men in their efforts to capture it alive.

Mr. Davis, who by the way, is one of the most noted and respected citizens, states that all his experience has never seen a fish similar to the strange catch of the trio. From one who claims to have seen the freak it is learned that it is to be embalmed and sent to the Smithsonian Institute.

Sentences Commuted.

Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Beckham commuted from imprisonment on the state penitentiary to confinement in the state jail for one year and one month.

He has never seen a fish similar to the strange catch of the trio. From one who claims to have seen the freak it is learned that it is to be embalmed and sent to the Smithsonian Institute.

DEFIES ELECTRICITY

A PROFESSOR ALLOWS 500,000 VOLTS TO ENTER BODY.

Not Even Slightest Injury Attends "Shock" Sustained to XIII 250 Criminals—Phenomenon Explained.

Lyman, Mass.—A modern Ajax has put in the shade the lightning defying feats of the Greek antihero. Prof. Elihu Thomson, of Lynn, permitted more than half a million volts of electricity to pass through his body recently, and laughs at it. In his electrocution of criminals only a few weeks ago.

Prof. Thomson showed how safe it is to handle bottled lightning when a person possesses a thorough knowledge of the science of electricity, as an audience before the Boston Club, of Boston, the members of which were his guests. He took the 500,000 and odd volts with less excitement than would be displayed by an ordinary man who takes a "shock" from a nickel-in-the-slot dynamic apparatus. In fact, Prof. Thomson did not show the twich of a lip or the blink of an eye.

Thirty-three members of the club connected with electric works, experts on their respective lines, witnessed the operations for the exhibition, awaiting in gaudy silence the completion of the circuit that carried a current properly divided—sufficient to cause the instantaneous death of 250 human beings. The demonstration was the conclusion in the laboratory.

When the apparatus was adjusted, cold perspiration stood out on the foreheads of the distinguished company as Prof. Thomson calmly approached the controls with a high front. The switch that was used at the instant the current was made was a blinding flash. Streamers of brilliant fire shot from the demonstrator's finger tips, and electric sparks two feet long flew into the air in quick succession. After the first two incandescent lights that were placed that distance from the fingers.

An instant later when the beholders were recovering from the only real shock they had taken, Prof. Thomson was seen at them and treating the whole test as a joke.

He displayed not the faintest tremor, and declared he had not experienced the slightest physical discomfort. Following the demonstration he explained that the current was controlled by a device that prevented any person from getting near him.

The explanation put in simple language is that it is the vibration of the nerves that is caused by the passing of the current through the body.

If a person gets more quickly than the vibrations the victim dies. A half million volts vibrates so quickly that the current passes into the body and out again before the nerves have time to be affected.
